

September 21st, 2007

To Whom It May Concern:

My wife and I have had the pleasure of working with Dennis Turchet and Peninsula Concrete for the past several months. They put in a new retaining wall, drive way, entryway landing, and sidewalk in front of our house. I can sum up his efforts in 4 words: expedient, professional, flexible, and cost-effective. When, because of engineering design challenges, we had to bring the project to a screeching halt (for about six weeks), Dennis was able to shift his schedule out and when the engineer solved the problem, he was able to slide us right back into his schedule without a hitch.

Our secondary entrance was difficult to access; we would have to walk across the area where the patio was going in. On the 1st day that we had to use that instead of our main entrance, Dennis provided a clear path so there was no inconvenience, and it was only one day! Dennis worked very hard to minimize any impact that the project would have on our lives. We are very happy with the quality of the work and the efficiency with which the job was completed. He brought the project in on time and on budget. He also included, as his way of doing business little extra touches that, if they weren't done, I never would have missed them. I wouldn't know if they were needed or not. To me, that speaks of integrity and wanting things done correctly and completely.

To sum it up, we would happily recommend Peninsula Concrete as a sound choice if concrete work is needed.

Respectfully,
Walt and Sylvia W.