

November 5th, 2007

I am pleased to offer a strong endorsement of Peninsula Concrete. We had an incredibly complicated backyard project involving demolition work, a large paver deck, and a concrete foundation for a large storage structure. Peninsula was the most efficient and professional contractor team on site, and their flexibility and creativity saved us on several occasions from major delays. Their speed, efficiency, and high quality of work set the standard for the rest of the contractors. We were particularly impressed by their ability to adapt design and scheduling as the project moved forward, without delaying the completion date. Dennis is great to work with, he has great ideas and was always a welcome face in our backyard.

Ken

Portola Valley Resident

Professor of Mechanical Engineering, Stanford University